The Life of Johann Heinrich Pestalozzi: Overview (Pestalozzi Approach)

Version 1

The facilitator gives out one bingo card to each participant, making sure that the six different cards are used.

The facilitator tells the participants to listen to the Bingo Clues and to tick the box containing the answer to any clue they hear and to call out 'Bingo' only when all the boxes on their card have been ticked.

(NB: The facilitator should also tick the clues as he or she reads them so that there is no confusion over which clues have been read out.)

The facilitator continues giving clues (without giving the answer) until several of the participants (the number depending on the size of the group) have called 'Bingo'

The facilitator checks that the boxes ticked on the completed cards match the clues read out and that the answers are correct.

All the participants go through the clues and answers.

Version 2

The game is played in exactly the same way as in Version 1, except that the participants are divided into groups of up to seven participants. One participant in each group is given the 'Bingo - Clues and Answers' sheet and told not to show it to anyone else in the group.

These participants take the role of the facilitator, given in Version 1. The rest of the students in the group are given different Bingo cards.

(NB: each participant in any one group should have a different Bingo Card.)

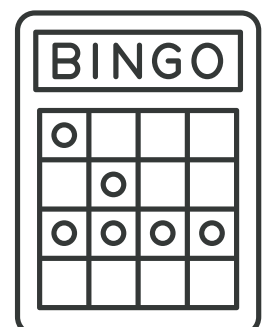

Materials Needed

Version 1:

- One copy of the 'Bingo - Clues and Answers' sheet for the facilitator
- Copies of the 'Bingo Cards' - one card for each participant (NB: Ensure that the six different Bingo Cards are used)

Version 2:

- One copy of 'Bingo - Clues and Answers' for the facilitator and for each group of seven participants
- Copies of the 'Bingo Cards' - one card for six of the seven participants in each group (NB: Ensure that the six different Bingo Cards are used)
